This seasons collaboration between Cherevichkiotvichki and Yohji Yamamoto Spring Summer 2018 Femme collection offers and openness and lightness that was yet to be seen.

Victoria Andrejeva of Cherevichkiotvichki presents two styles of shoes that share the same asymmetric but yet "fluid" quality of linear design. One of them is merged between a sandal and a derby. Consisting of an open toe design with two asymmetric panels. The internal panel folds on top over to the external one and is then fastened with a delicate lace.

This playful design is in reference to the ever-changing silhouettes in Yamamotos' Spring 2018 Femme collection. As one is able to alter the silhouette through rows of buttons, as bits of skin peek through. This playful nature allows for a shoe design that consists of a multitude of ideas. The open nature of the shoe also creates a raw survivalist feeling, this paired with the use of black leather and matt finish gives a soft and comfortable sensation.

The collaboration pieces will be exclusively available in the Yohji Yamamoto stores and selected boutiques worldwide in early 2018.
